Sounds like Daniel's a success

Byrne's show a real dazzler

MARYANN WRIGHT

DANIEL Conifer has come a long way from taking out the rubbish and collecting the mail in his first year as a volunteer at Koori Radio.

Four years on, the 17-year-old Warwick Farm resident hosts and produces his own weekly sports show, broadcast on Sydney's only full-time indigenous community radio station.

"I started as a volunteer in Year 9 during the school holidays and in 2007 I was offered the chance to do the sports show," Daniel said.

He interviews and gathers opinions on sport at all levels, from grassroots indigenous sport to international events.

The three hours of live radio from 9am to noon on 93.7FM has heard him speak to sporting greats such as Arthur Beetson, Greg Inglis, Wendell Sailor and Preston Campbell.

"Our target audience is the indigenous community, and we attract about 100,000 listeners a week," he said.

Daniel has an indigenous background and plans to develop the show for the community while studying journalism and law.

Radio presenter Daniel Conifer enjoys being a voice to the community.
